Create musical projects by drawing notes on a piano-like canvas, which you can play afterward. You can use different instruments for each track by simply opening the context menu and clicking the Change Instrument button. Automation clip support: Automation clips offer an easy way to manipulate notes in real-time by modifying the time parameters during a composition. Automation clips can be added to a layer and position them in time with the notes. They can be also inserted as empty automation clips and can automatically modify their duration. This is helpful if you want to omit parts of a piece but still want to play it with the original melody. Multiple Layers: It is possible to add multiple layers and to position them independently. Layers can be sorted and moved with respect to each other. This is helpful if you want to rearrange your layers or position them in front of each other. Multiple instruments: It is possible to use different instruments for each track. You can change the instrument in real-time during a composition by right-clicking on the desired note and selecting the desired instrument. It is also possible to load a MIDI file from the program's file manager. Insert automation clips: You can insert automation clips.
