This morning the world woke up to the news that the National Security Agency (NSA) had been observing the Internet traffic of practically everyone in the world (including U.S. residents). It has been proven already that only the NSA knew about this. But I was wondering: can this affect anyone in their daily lives if they do not interact with U.S. authorities? A: The NSA can intercept the entire contents of all email (including those they send), any traffic passing over the Internet, and GPS location data. Even if the NSA "does not have access" to your data, they can intercept your phone calls if you use a voice over IP (VOIP) phone service. And you can be prosecuted or imprisoned for using unencrypted telecommunications equipment. A: NSA only knows about US citizens. They have zero access to anything outside US or purely foreign (like Germany or UK) or only persons. A: The article says "This isn't a new revelation of secret intelligence operations by the U.S. or other Western countries". It then details the sort of information "Snowden" has been working with, which is pretty much everything. The NSA doesn't have any way to know who is speaking to their targets or other random strangers, so it's quite safe to assume it was only US citizens that were targeted. %YAML 1.1 %TAG!u! tag:unity3d.com,2011: ---!u!21 &2100000 Material: serializedVersion: 6 m_ObjectHideFlags: 0 m_PrefabParentObject: {fileID: 0} m_PrefabInternal: {fileID: 0} m_Name: Default m_Shader: {fileID: 46, guid: 0000000000000000f000000000000000, type: 0} m_Shader
