It's almost ready to be installed (after several Sunrides test runs for 1-2 hours). If you install Sunrider on another computer, everything will work as usual. If the Sunriders test was run from a CD, CD, or DVD, then move the disk to any of the other computers. Translation: Composition: 1 CD or DVD with 2 CDs or DVDs each for installing Sunriding on other computers 1 CD or CD on 1 CD or 1 DVD in each for installation on other computers 2 CD or DVD for 1 LP or LP in each for installation on others 1/4 CD or LD on 2 LP for installation in shared computers on 1/2 CD or N CD for network installation 1/2 CD or 1 CD each with game/download application for installation § 1.1. Preparing the game disc The simplest thing is to test the entire contents of the disk with Sunridden on a portable disk that has a directory for installation. After that, in this directory, you should create a bootable CD, for example, with a game. The easiest way to do this is with nRemover (Nero®). The next step is to choose an installer, specifying the installation date when installing, because in the example, Sunrender test uses a boot disk with the specified date. If you do not have Nero®, you can use programs that automatically rewrite CDs. For example, mBitTorrent. It is unlikely that several games will be installed on one computer at once. If you have only one game installed, you can back it up and copy it to CD
